- you will find the semester with the corresponding number of semester hours per week of the subject in each column
- you complete modules within your degree programme.
- A module is the combination of several thematically related courses or subjects. There are different types of teaching, here it is II like individual lessons
- Modules are completed with module examinations - here you can recognise the mode of examination and find information under comments

It's as simple as that...

The degree programme is successfully passed when all modules have been successfully passed and the required credit points have been achieved.
